Rupert and Marianne - The Kendall Shop

New owners - The Kendall Shop

A big welcome to the local area to Rupert and Marianne, the new owners of The Kendall Shop! Taking over from Jackie and Courtney Scott, who bought the old butcher shop, reconstructed it as a convenience shop and ran it for exactly four years, Rupert and Marianne are continuing to provide a convenience service to the local community. They have expanded the selection of items available and have employed three locals to assist in the shop.

Rupert said that they are endeavouring to focus on serving the community and are keen to hear of any suggestions of further items to stock in the process of building up the business.

Rupert and Marianne had moved to Monterey as a retired couple, however have found themselves back working, and loving it. Please continue to support The Kendall Shop - open seven days – phone 6559 0201.

A big thank you to Jackie and Courtney for ensuring Kendall had a shop after the closure of the Kendall General Store. The local community appreciates your efforts!

Kendall Showground - Welcomes Grant

The members of the Camden Haven Pastoral Agricultural Horticultural and Industrial Society (aka Kendall Showground) were absolutely delighted to receive two State Government grants recently.

The first grant of $114,744 from the Crown Reserve Improvement Fund will fund the replacement of the horse stables and the second grant of $39,729 from the Community Building Partnership Grant program will replace the cattle marshalling and holding yards.

"We will concentrate on engaging local tradesmen and as always rely on our volunteers. We really need more volunteers to assist with this project, so if you are interested, please contact me on 0427 569 690 and find out how you can help."

Member for Port Macquarie Leslie Williams, who has always been a great supporter of the local Kendall and Kew area, congratulated members of the Camden Haven PAH&I Society - see photo on page one.

A little of the history of Kendall Showground ... At a meeting of the Agricultural Bureau in 1931 chaired by Mr ST Boyd a motion was carried that a Junior Farmers Club be formed at Kendall. This show was held at the School in the Autumn of 1932 and was a great success. However, it was not until 1941 that the next show was held. It was decided that it should be held on the Sports Ground in November of that year. A lot of hard work ensued, poles cut for frameworks to be covered with tarpaulins for stalls, and coops for poultry. The Show was opened by Mr Clive Evatt, the Ringmaster was A. Wallace-Smith. With World War II came expected difficulties but the 1942 show went ahead.

Soon after in 1944 it was felt that a showground was needed and about 30 acres of land was purchased on Batar Creek Road from Mr H Everingham for ten pounds per acre. Two acres were later added from the Smith Estate on the northern end. It was years before the heavily timbered land was cleared and ready for a show. In 1948 a Show Committee was formed and the three committees were amalgamated to form the Camden Haven Show PAH&I Society, with HW Arnold, President, and JW Thickett as Secretary. The first Show on this ground was held in 1949.

Today the Kendall Showground is home to the annual Camden Haven Show as well as regular equestrian events, Camden Haven Pony Club, Kendall Men's Shed, Camden Haven Boxing Team, Kendall Blues Football Club, Tactile Arts Group, Kendall Markets and many, many other functions and events

Kendall Community Op Shop News

... From the Community ... For the Community
... To the Community

Welcome to Winter!

A warm welcome to new volunteers Jonathan Swain and Linda Prisk.

Op Shop is open on Sunday 7th July, the first Sunday of the month. This coincides with the Kendall Showground Markets

Look out for a display of fascinating or unusual items - these are always in the collectables and jewellery cabinets: volunteers interested in these areas are dedicating time and effort to research using the internet, each piece thoroughly - to give a 'market' description with a fair price - in your favour for sure. Keep an eye on the shop's Facebook page, as unusual items are often pictured here.

Wintery weather finds us feeling like doing things at home: haberdashery, knitting needles, patterns and wool are available at the shop at very pleasing prices!

The upcoming end of the season SALE might be soon on the cards - WINTER CLOTHING galore is on display at the moment and heaps to choose from before spring arrives. At the shop there is a wide range of many "keeping-you-warm" and "rug-up" items at always favourable pricing levels.

How about these soul warming items like tea/coffee pots, winter warming socks and foot warmers in the wintery season? Come in and browse, plenty to choose from.

Looking for cooking utensils? Plenty of steak knives sets and cutting helpers waiting on new owners - just ask to see. They are kept in the sorting room for safety reasons.

Books.... What is your passion? Australian Poetry, Auto- or Biography, Children's books, Crime/Mystery, Fishing, Gardening, General Fiction, Non-fiction, Religion, Sports, Travel are only a few of the categories in stock. Next to books are CDs, DVDs, records/vinyls to keep you entertained at home.

Note the volunteers can advise you on what is appropriate to donate: You donate what you would give to a friend and family member. At the front counter there is also a list published of items and goods which cannot be accepted as resale of these items is not possible.

Let's recycle best we can to give assistance to the planet, keep plastic waste down and shop at the Op Shop to protect our children's future - and your wallet.

Lets all do more to become more sustainable - shopping second hand is improving survival for our next generations... Re-use, donate items you no longer want, give more of your things as a contribution to a sustainable life and make some extra money - or re-use/purchase others 'treasured items' to save money and the environment - and you do a huge favour to the planet. Also, it makes everyday items more affordable to a person, to a family in need as we all know, cost of living expenses are on the rise.

Do you know that Aussies have an average of 19 unused items in their wardrobes/homes - find yours and donate them - somebody else make good use of them!

If you are interested in volunteering and being part of giving back to the community: get an "Expression of Interest" form from the OpShop at 1a Comboyne St, Kendall NSW 2439 or tel. 6559 0084.

Browse www.kendallcommunityopshop.com.au and/or look www.facebook.com/kendallcommunityopshop up. Make the volunteers proud for donating their effort and time for a good cause. Everyone can pass by at the Op Shop (check the opening times). Just follow the health safety rules and regulations given by the NSW's government - it's for the protection of us all.

Selling 2nd hand isn't new, but what the planet needs is more buyers!

WHAT DO YOU KNOW ABOUT THE BIRDS AND THE BEES?

As part of an Energy Forever grant, five local Landcare groups will present a day of interesting workshops on Saturday 13th July at Laurieton United Services Club from 10.30-3.30 pm.

Les Mitchell, from Port Macquarie Landcare with his expert background in botany from Port will talk about the emerging concept of urban or microforests. This involves creating 'multi-storey habitat' on small pockets of urban land. Butterfly and moth expert Tony Moore will present fascinating information about the role that insects play in creating healthy environments.

Sue Baker from Dunbogan and Laurieton Landcare will address the issue of invasion and spread of weeds such as bitou bush, lantana and morning glory vine, a problem now so serious in transforming our ecosystems that they are listed nationally as Key Threatening Processes to our ecosystems

In recent years, many local people have become interested in native bees. Two community members well-known for their commitment to helping to save these endangered bees will explore this topic with Diane Norris, doing a presentation and over lunch Jim Marchment showing how to build a native bee hotel.

With a strong background in ecology, John Broadbent who is currently writing a book about the flora and fauna of the Camden Haven, will talk about native fauna including several endangered species that call our area home.

Python and snake breeder Michael Banicek will show how he has created a variety of habitats in his urban garden and the astonishing array of fauna such as frogs and lizards that have been attracted to, and now flourish there.

The workshop and lunch are free. Information on how to book will be available in the local paper the week prior plus on the Hastings Landcare website hastingslandcare.org.au and facebook.com/HastingsLandcare.

Kendall District Garden Club News

At the June meeting Doug Pope chaired the meeting in the absence of John Carter.

Doug discussed the excursion to Cairncross today and that it will be repeated at the August meeting with a corresponding meeting here at the Hall for those not attending. There are still a few spots available for the excursion in August for anyone wishing to go.

July meeting will be our birthday party meeting. Jim and Janet will talk to us about their trip to Iceland. All contributions to morning tea and to the lucky door prize at that meeting will be very welcome.

Show and Tell. Don explained about 'good senna' (senna acclinis) and bad senna (senna pendula). He had some free samples of senna acclinis and information sheets for those interested. Diane had some camellia and poinsettia flowers to give away. She also outlined the plants and fertilisers available for sale on a help yourself and put money in the tin basis. There are also a number of seedling trays available in exchange for a donation.

Garden Problems. Helen has pansy seedlings collapsing in her garden. Discussion as to the cause and solutions were inconclusive.

Gail told us of the problem of a satin bower bird eating the leaves of her passion fruit vine.

Controlling bandicoots discussed. Don has used ammonia and wire netting and rocks around small plants with some success.

Discussion on controlling onion weed. Very difficult. Spraying where possible, cutting and pasting (Diane suggested using scissors dipped in undiluted roundup to cut the tops off) removing flowers to prevent seeding, salt, vinegar and boiling water, and digging the bulbs out, along with the soil around the bulbs. All difficult when there are other plants around.

A thank you to all those who brought morning tea and to Diane for organising.

Guest Speaker Jenna O'Connor. Jenna is the Liveable Communities Education Officer with the Port Macquarie Hastings Council. Jenna spoke to us about the Urban Water Cycle.

The Urban Water Cycle is the man-made cycle that takes water from the environment, makes it available to humans and then returns it to the environment. Our catchment is unique because we cannot catch water where it is to be stored (like the Warragamba Dam) because of the unsuitable terrain.

The Urban Water Cycle consists of two parts. The collecting and distribution of water and the collection and cleaning of used water.

The first part of the cycle involves taking water from the Hastings River and either pumping it directly to homes in the Wauchope region or pumping it to storage dams at Cowarra and Port Macquarie and then distributing it throughout the Council area. Camden Haven is serviced by the South Arm Trunk pipe and a series of reservoirs.

There are three pumping stations situated on Korie Island near Wauchope and they extract 120 mega litres (ML) per day from the centre layer of the Hastings River where the cleanest water is. Water is not pumped during droughts. Cowarra Dam has a capacity of 10,000 ML and 20 ML is used each day. Households conserved water during the drought but Cowarra still got down to 30% capacity.

Future water security, with decreasing dependency on rainfall, is being researched at the moment. Strategies include raising the dam wall, a desalination plant and recycled water.

The second part of the Urban Water Cycle involves managing storm water and waste water. Managing waste water is done at a number of waste water treatment plants and involves firstly, educating households to keep solid contaminants like wet wipes, cotton buds, fats and oils and other things out of the waste water system. It is very expensive and disruptive to remove huge accumulations of wipes and fat burgers. Cotton buds are small and will go through fine mesh into treatment plants and interfere with aeration processes. Residents are asked to flush only the three Ps. Pee, Poo and paper.

Once the solid waste is removed from waste water, the water goes into aeration ponds where it is biologically treated using bacteria, oxygen and nitrogen. No chemicals are used. It becomes treated water or effluent. This effluent is skimmed off and the sludge below is taken to green waste facilities, dewatered and turned into compost. It is sold to large scale operators like avocado farms.

The effluent is further treated using UV before being able to be discharged into creeks. It is still not fit to drink and can be further treated using ultrafiltration and semi permeable membranes and UV again. Reverse osmosis can remove salts and chemicals which bind to the water molecules along with more UV. Chlorine is then added to help keep pipes clean. This water is still not potable but can be used to water playing fields and some new estates in Port Macquarie have dual reticulation systems which will use it. The Council web site has a section on water with lots of information.

Next meeting will be held on Monday 15th July 2024

Cabbage Eating Moths Minimise Through the Efforts of Social Butterflies

The Global Food Garden has been chugging away nicely, despite the onset of cold weather and shorter days. Cabbages have been faring particularly well which was not the case in last year's autumn.

This success is likely attributable to the management of white moths which seemed over fond of our beautiful brassicas previously. We have engineered a brilliant frame with netting to keep the moths away, whilst allowing the young plants to grow unimpeded by the weight of the net. There has also been some conjecture that a wetter season may have also inhibited the moth numbers.

Regardless, some very impressive cabbages are about ready for harvest.

The gardening crew have been busy, as always, with maintenance and seasonal planting. We have also been preparing a new area for growing along the fenceline. All work and no play is not our goal, however, so we were delighted to attend lunch at Tin and Ian's farm in Logan's Crossing. We were treated to a range of Burmese dishes which featured locally grown, organic produce and the company was excellent as always. The Global Food Gardeners meet every week on a Thursday morning to work in the garden and share knowledge (sometimes seedlings too). If you are inclined to join, or are looking to purchase some delicious seasonal veg, feel free to pop in from around 9.30am.

KENDALL CWA News

The ladies of the Kendall CWA have again been busy this past month.

The highlight was our Mid North Coast Group, annual Agricultural / Environment and Handicraft Day on the 4th June. Kendall CWA Members hosted this annual event held at the Kendall Community Hall. Lots of effort and teamwork went into making this day a huge success.

The day was divided into two sessions. The morning was Agricultural and Environment and the afternoon session Handicraft. Scones for morning tea and a box with sandwiches, slices and fruit salad for lunch. Thank you to all our members for their contribution to the day.

Louise Waterson from Gloucester was our Guest Speaker in the morning session.

Louise spoke and shared her knowledge on the topic of Fungi. Every year we study different topics and Fungi has been chosen for this year.

Louise works as a home support worker and has grown an interest and passion in this subject. Louise interest and fascination in Fungi has developed over the last nine years and loves to go bush walking and to forage in her local area. Louise has set up and runs a face book page, called NEW SOUTH WALES FUNGI. We saw many different specimens of Fungi gathered by Louise the day prior to her presentation. I am sure a lot of us were encouraged to start taking an interest in fungi on our next bush walk and even in our own backyards.

FUNGI:

Just a little information to, whet your appetite on this amazing subject.

Mycology is the branch of biology concerned with the study of fungi. Little is known of the true biodiversity of the fungus kingdom, which has been estimated at around 2.2 million to 3.8 million species. Of these only about 148,000 have been described. Fungi perform an essential role in the decomposition of organic matter and have fundamental roles in nutrient cycling and exchange in the environment. They have been long used as direct source of human food, in form of mushrooms and truffles, as a leavening agent for bread, and fermentation of various food products, such as wine, beer and soy sauce.. Since 1940s fungi have been used for production of antibiotics. Various enzymes produced by fungi are used industrially and in detergents and the list goes on about this fascinating fungi. En.m.wikipedia.org

The afternoon session on Handicraft was organised by our very own Handicraft Officer Elizabeth Watson. We were presented with the opportunity to participate in a number of workshops on Candle Wicking Embroidery, Slow Stitching, Blocking your knits and crochet work and Quilt as you go blocks and joining techniques. Many of us went away with great ideas for our future handicraft work.

Social Day: 1st Tuesday of the month at 11am.

Monthly Meeting: 3rd Tuesday of the month at 10.00am. Kendall War Memorial Trust Hall, Graham Street, Kendall (next to the Services Club)

Kendall Community Boatshed Update

On Saturday 25th of May 2024, 13 paddlers set off from the Log Wharf Reserve at Telegraph Point for a relatively easy and incident free entry to the water!

This historical Telegraph Point area was first settled by Europeans in the 1820's and, in 1869, a telegraph line was constructed between Port Macquarie and Armidale. Work on the line was held up here for some time, hence the name Telegraph Point.

As we left the boat ramp, we paddled upstream on the Wilsons River. The cool autumn air, with a little cloud cover, made for perfect paddling conditions - with no need for the usual groans about wind, tides or rain! The river meanders its way up past farmland and some beautiful riverside houses and after around 4 kms, we stopped on the riverbank for a quiet morning tea break. Previous paddles on this river have not always been quite so tranquil, with some impressively fast racing craft using the river for their practices runs!

After returning to the water, we paddled a further 15 minutes upstream before turning around and making our way back to the boat ramp. After packing up, the group headed to the Rivermark Cafe (joined by some fellow kayakers who were unable to make the paddle) for lunch, a good chat and inevitable talks of upcoming excursions. Excitement is building for the next 3-day "away" paddle at lovely Stuararts Point. Not long now!
